NORTHERN ITALY

Built of rugged terrain and vast cultural differences from region to region, northern Italy's sub-regions are heavily influenced by their bordering countries. Both Piedmont and Val d'Aosta are swooned by the French, Trentino-Alto Adige by their former German owners, and Friuli-Venezia Giulia by Slovenia and overall Slavic culture. While at times like oil and water, the thread that ties the wines of Northern Italy together is their liveliness: FRESH, BRIGHT, HERBACEOUS.

CENTRAL ITALY

With rolling hills both golden and green, this is the land of magic. Tuscany, the most revered of all, paints the setting: Architectural enlightenment, an art collection unmatched, and food that brings the world to this culinary haven. Sandwiched by the seas - the Adriatic to the east and the Tyrrhenian to the west - coastal influence has high impact here. The white wines of Central Italy are SAVORY, TEXTURAL, BURSTING WITH STONE FRUIT.

SOUTHERN ITALY

Deep in the Mediterranean, Italy's southern regions are drenched with sunlight. They have some of the warmest climates in Europe for quality winemaking. Covered in mountainous terrain, the toe, the heel, and the sole of the boot are hidden gems, which boast wines that are RIPE, AROMATIC, AND SPICED.

THE ISLANDS

The Islands of Sicily and Sardinia are some of the most impactful wine regions of Italy, in no small part due to their dramatic geography. The wines of Sardinia are dense and crunchy while simultaneously being saline and lively. Sicily, the largest island in Europe, is only 2 miles from the mainland. This expansive Island is also home to Mount Etna, Sicily's monstrous, active volcano. In addition to the heat and ocean influence, the volcanic soil here yields wines that are SALTY, NUTTY & FLINTY.

NORTHERN ITALY

Northern Italy is shaped by its rustic landscapes and diverse regional cultures - each strongly influenced by neighboring countries. Piedmont and Val d'Aosta have strong French ties, Trentino-Alto Adige bears the imprint of its former German rulers, and Friuli-Venezia Giulia is marked by its connections to Slovenia. Nebbiolo, often referred to as 'the wine of kings and the king of wines,' is the royal red grape varietal of the north. Its body is light, yet its power is strong. It sets the standard for all other red grapes in northern Italy: FLORAL, TANNIC, UMAMI.

CENTRAL ITALY

Tuscany is a place of enchantment: Golden hour at all hours. Revered above all, but also inspired by beyond its borders. It offers architectural brilliance, an unparalleled art scene, and cuisine that attracts the world to its shores. There is no shortage of trailblazers and rule breakers in Il Centro, cue SUPER-TUSCANS. Positioned between two seas, the Adriatic to the east and the Tyrrhenian to the west, it is a true Mediterranean treasure. With this, the wines of Il Centro are STRUCTURED, RIPE & JUICY.

SOUTHERN ITALY

As one of the warmest wine growing regions in Europe, Il Sud basks in abundant sunshine. With mountainous landscapes and unrelenting ocean breezes there is obvious natural beauty here. Campania and its companion regions have smaller populations and live modest lifestyles with fewer resources. However, the wines that come from the toe, the heel, and the sole of the boot are diamonds in the rough: POWERFUL, SPICEY, MUSCULAR.

THE ISLANDS

Sicily and Sardinia stand out as two of Italy's most significant wine regions, each defined by striking landscapes. Sardinia has evident Spanish influence as seen from the most heavily planted red grape varietals. This is likely due to being part of Spain in the 1700's. Slightly larger than New Jersey, Sicily is just a stone's throw from the rest of Italy, separated only by the narrow Strait of Messina. Much of the high-quality wine on this island hales from Mount Etna, and benefits from the slopes and volcanic soils. Of course - risky business planting vineyards next to an active volcano! The wines of the islands are a thrilling adventure: DELICATE TANNIN, FLINTY MINERALITY, BRULÉED BERRIES.
